Here on this newspaper we do a pretty good job of getting names spelled properly. Of course, once in a while we'll slip up and make a name less-ordinarily we have the major portion of them right.

It isn't easy to get names and initials in the correct places at all times. We always make an earnest effort to spell 'em right, but don't like to see my name in other newspapers when it's spelled "Raiden," "Rowden," "Rozden," "Radven," etc. Having a peculiar name, probably, has brought home to me the fact that names should be spelled correctly.

A story taken over the telephone and having a list of names is the bane of a newspaper man. That's the reason here on this end of the line we are always saying "spell it, please."

Thinking of names that sound somewhat alike, and still, are as different as day from night, brought to mind the list of names here in the Glades.

Week in and week out we handle hundreds of names. And, as I said before, we do a pretty good job of keeping them straight. But, here on this end of the line we are always saying "spell it, please."

Right here in the Lake Okechobee section are many easily confused names. Here are some:

Darden — Bardin
Lapp — Sapp
Herring — Herring
Guice — Rice
Cox — Fox
Phillips — Phillips
Vann — Vann
McClure — McClure
Willis — Willis
Caffey — Caffey
Baxter — Bachelor
Hobson — Robinson
Hobson — Denton
Faulk — Faulk
Burr — Burr
Kirchman — Kirchman
Brooks — Brooks
Thomas — Thompson
Mittel — Rozelle
Jordon — Jordon
Kittel — Kittel
Crews — Crews
Rader — Rader
Dansen — Dansen
Cate — Cate
Statham — Latham
Friend — Friend
Miller — Miller
Hall — Hall
Cowan — Cowan
Barnett — Barnett
Redmer — Redmer
Fraser — Fraser
Crech — Crech
Hewell — Hewell
Maxson — Maxwell
Kepp — Kepp
Rauden — Rauden
Friedlund — Friedlund

That's only a few of them right here at home, but they give you an idea of how easily a mistake could be made.

Hudson's Camp, located near Chaney bay, is enjoying a good patronage this fall, according to G. V. Hudson, former Canal Point grocer, who operates the camp. He has new boats, new cabins, and a new fishing and hunting camp attractive to the sportsman. With the opening of the duck hunting season on November 2, Mr. Hudson is expecting a further increase in business at his camp. Boats and guides are available for those who desire them.

Do you like good barbecue? I stopped at Sand Cut the other day and P. E. Williams, butcher in Mac's General Store, had just finished barbecuing the side of a fresh pork. To say that it was delicious is putting it mildly. It was the best I've ever tasted. The store is making a specialty of barbecued porks and dozens of other folks living in the area are coming the way to Mac's store.

Dr. Nowlin Is Chapel Speaker

Dr. W. D. Nowlin of Arcadia spoke on "What It Means to Have an Education" at the Pahokee church on Sunday night last Wednesday. He was introduced by Rev. C. A. Mohr, pastor of the first Baptist church of Pahokee. Dr. Nowlin's sermon was a number of songs and piano selections before introducing Dr. Nowlin.

Local Barbers Not In Favor Of Plans For Price Raises

Board Proposes 8 A.M. To 5 P.M. Hours; Would Ruin Glades Business

The state barber board operating in Palm Beach county may force the editor of this newspaper to grow a Van Dyke beard and purchase a few yards of yellow hair ribbon to tie onto the pigtail which seem to be forthcoming. This may come about, however, when the prices of haircuts are shoved into a higher bracket — of about 65c — and shaves upped to 40c. On the other hand, it is known far and wide that this barber board is for the barbers — if they want, and can get their prices. Here in this office we have been forced to up the price on job printing. We have no control over the paper market and prices have skyrocketed to the tune of 44 per cent on some of the papers we use in printing every day warehouse forms.

The barbers in West Palm Beach are all for raising the prices but the barber board is not so hot. The barber board is not so hot for a quid for a shave and 50c for a haircut. It is not so hot to believe they can make out for a few more months with these same prices.

A delegation of Glades barbers met at a meeting scheduled for 8 a.m. and close at 5 p.m. in the Glades section of the local barbers might just as well close their shops and go home. In a section like this, where farmers are busy until sundown, the local barbers couldn't earn grits working on that schedule.

Kentucky Okechs Heavy Trucks

John Dulany, manager of the Pahokee state farmers' market, makes the following announcement:

"I am pleased to advise you that it is now possible to obtain Special Permits for the state of Kentucky for overweight trucks transporting perishables."

"These permits are good for a gross weight of 32,000 lbs., and a length of 35 feet, and either trailers or straight trucks."

"A charge of $2.00 per truck is made and permits are renewable every three months."

"May I suggest that you contact the managers of the different Glades markets to obtain these permits, advise their Florida trucks and all others to obtain these special permits, so that they may travel Kentucky highways without being molested by fee grabbers."

Those applying for permits should contact Mr. J. L. Donaldson, State Highway Department, Frankfort, Kentucky."

Spaghetti Supper Given For Band

Members of the Pahokee high school band were entertained at a spaghetti supper and party at the home of Mrs. Mrs. H. Anderson recently. Hostesses for the supper were Mrs. J. T. Pickett, Mrs. Carmen Salvatore, Mrs. George Bell, Mrs. Henry Brooker, Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. Wiley Tills, and Mrs. R. L. Anderson. The "Pahokee" motif was carried out in the table decorations and the favors.

Mrs. George Bell showed motion pictures of the band in action and other scenes of interest. Conists, games, and dancing were also enjoyed.

Forty-three members of the band were present with Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Lamm and Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Caudill.

Beans Bring $3.10 On Local Markets During This Week

Growers Expect Heavy Picking To Start Within 10 Days

The lucky few who had green snap beans during the past few days collected a nice profit from their farming efforts. During the first part of this week tenders were sold for cash on the local auction markets for $3.10 to $3.25 per bushel. The highest price brought as high as $2.65 per hamper.

In the opinion of brokers and warehousemen that heavy picking will start within the next ten days — and then, of course, the price will drop. When shipments are heavy in these parts the price is always low and in all probability the same will be true here.

Spirited bidding was prevalent at several places during the week when tenders were offered at auction. At this time there are a few beans being shipped from other sections of the country and the Lake crop is commanding attention of a large number of buyers. Several new faces were seen among the bidders on local auction platforms this week.

The yield of beans is not up to standard this fall. It was pointed out by a couple of growers yesterday who had just returned from a trip through their fields. It seems that the weather has been so dry that it has had an ill effect on the yield. Wild fields look like they are heavily laden with beans a closer inspection shows that they are spotty.

Mayor Stresses Vote Importance

Mayor John Dulany was the guest speaker at the 100th annual meeting of the Lions club at the Woman's club house Tuesday. He emphasized the necessity of the vote in the election to be held next Tuesday to vote on the four amendments to the city charter.

Mayor Dulany explained each of the amendments in detail and gave the city council's reasons for drawing them up. He was introduced by Browning Roach, who had charge of the program.

Rardin To Speak To P.-T. A. Group

Officials of the Pahokee Parent-Teacher organization believe they have an interesting program scheduled for the night of "Educational Needs," and Paul Rardin will be the guest speaker. At the close of the program, a social hour will be held.

The P.-T. A. group has issued special invitations to all members of the community to attend the big shipment of Mrs. McNeal, Elliott & Robinson are testing the practicality of dual wheels on heavy trucks in connection with the heavy haul in rocking roads. Mr. Scott, the inventor of dual wheels, expects to be present during the test.

The Bottleneck!

The Miami Daily News Says:

THROTTLING TRAVEL! — Maybe you're one of those folks who haven't found it out — if you are, look at your map and you will see newly-opened Road 26 is a short cut to every section of the state. Some scoffers may point out that his map shows him the most direct route between Miami and Jacksonville is still the federal highway, but traffic congestion doesn't show on a map. He has only to negotiate the trip by both routes to discover which is the shortest in travel time. Lots of winter visitors will see Florida from a new angle by taking Road 26 and Road 26 to Miami from Jacksonville this season, but they will find one flaw — the bottleneck between Belle Glade and Pahokee. This impediment is not only impeding travel between Jacksonville and Miami. It impairs communication between the Lake Okechobee section and Miami.

A suggestion of the state road department can correct the situation by building a new road and using the old one as a "farm-to-market" road. A note to Lake Okechobee area residents: You can count on the co-operation of Dade counties 100 per cent whenever you want to start action on eliminating this bottleneck.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS OF SAFETY

Executive Points To Lax Scouting Help By Pahokee Rotas

Cites Canal Point Troop And Scoutmaster As Good Workers

District Scout Executive George P. Freeman, guest speaker at the Pahokee Rotary club yesterday afternoon commending Scout work in the Gulf Stream Council, said: "But, I can't say so much for the sponsorship of the Pahokee Scouts by this Rotary club. He pointed out that 'excellent work is being done in the various sections of the five counties in the council and contrasted that work with the little bit that has been done in Pahokee."

He was loud in his praise for J. B. Cox, Canal Point scout principal, who has been Scoutmaster for the Magic City Troop. He cited the accomplishments of Mr. Cox and his group of boys as something for the Pahokee Rotary club to emulate. He urged the club to shoot at it. He asked the Rotarians to earnestly and sincerely put their hearts in their job of sponsoring the Scout troop and see if a live and active troop couldn't be maintained in Pahokee.

The speaker commended accomplishments in the Glades district under the direction of John Harrington at Canal Point. The troop membership has mounted from 156 to 226 under the able direction of Mr. Harrington and his associates. Mr. Freeman said:

Congressman Pat Cannon was a visitor and when introduced by Mayor John Dulany expressed his appreciation for the work of the Scout troop and its Scoutmaster, Henry J. H. Therkildsen, editor of the All Florida page in the Miami Herald, was another guest. Other guests were: Thomas Breger, N. T. Taylor, Arthur Wells, Belle Glades Rotarians. Student Member Ross Blech had his guest Harold Henry. J. H. McFarlan was a guest of V. C. Denton. F. W. Davis was a guest of Will Jernigan.

Pop Scullen Is Ill In Hospital

Mrs. J. E. Statham reported at the meeting of the Mable Simonson circle of the Pahokee Methodist church Monday, that Miss Lawry, representative of the Home Mission Council of the Methodist church, had been able to secure the services of a missionary nurse for the local migrants. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. R. Earl Smith.

Statham Returns From Legion Meet

Rev. J. E. Statham, pastor of the Pahokee Methodist church and state chaplain of The American Legion, returned home Wednesday morning after having attended a Legion membership round-up. At the meeting 8,000 membership cards were turned over to the Legion and it is expected that more than 17,000 memberships will be brought up to date by the middle of the winter when all drives are completed. On his return home Rev. Statham stopped at Bay Pines where he visited with the veterans in the government hospital.

CHEAT OLD AGE

Editor's Note: This article by a school proves to be an interesting example of the type of material which is being sent out by the state to the public. It is a rip-off of a story from the 45 and 60 minutes. This speed should take care of the major portion of the story from this area with little trouble.

The state will install two washing and grading belts for celery and plans are being worked out by the market officials and officials of the newly organized company in regard to washing, grading, and packing. The state will do the work for a specified charge per package or it may be done by the grower. The grower will process his own vegetables and pay the state a certain amount per package.

In making the announcement for the concern Mr. Chastain said he would like for it to be known country for not stopping at the Pahokee and Canal Point area may take advantage of the pre-cooling plant if they so desire. As they just want an excuse to drive faster.

Be a privileged character at all times. No one has the right to get in your way when you're in a hurry. Knock them off the road and go on to your destination; if your "Lizzy" can take it. As for you getting hurt, not a chance. You're trying to cheat old age. You're trying to cheat old age.

Don't give a sign or turn your back on your car. When you're driving a car never stop for a red light. Don't even keep your brakes light; that's a good excuse for not stopping.

Floor-boarding the accelerator on a winding road is more fun; especially if you can get a cop to chase you. That's just an excuse to drive faster.

Sam Chastain, L. L. Stuckey, Thurmond Knight and Walter G. Hull Are Organizers; Pre-Cooling Plant Is Purchased and Will Be Installed On Site Leased From the State At Pahokee Farmers' Market

Area Will Have a Pre-cooling Plant to Condition Celery and Other Green Vegetables This Season for Shipment to Northern Markets. Sam Chastain, president of the newly formed Everglades Growers Co-Operative, announced yesterday that all plans are complete and installation of such a plant will start immediately.

Mr. Chastain, L. L. Stuckey, Thurmond Knight and Walter G. Hull have just completed organization of a concern to be known as the Everglades Growers Co-Operative. At the organization meeting Mr. Stuckey vice president, Mr. Knight secretary, and Mr. Hull treasurer.

A complete plan was recently purchased by the new concern and will be powered by diesel motors, it was said. The concern will install the plant at the Pahokee State Farmers' Market on a site leased from the state. Construction of the foundation is under way.

Pre-cooling plants throughout the country don't all come up to expectations. Some come up to turning out the conditioned product but Mr. Chastain said the one to be installed will pre-cool a car of celery in a period of time between 45 and 60 minutes. This speed should take care of the major portion of the story from this area with little trouble.

Missionaries To Visit Canal Point

It will be the privilege of the people of this community to hear of world conditions and what is being done by the Christian forces to remedy them at the School of Missions to be held at the Canal Point, Fla., during the Christmas season beginning Monday at 7:30 and closing Friday evening.

The following speakers will be heard: Rev. John Hay of the British Missions will speak Monday evening.

Wednesday Mrs. J. E. Boatwright, who has just returned from extended study of mission fields in Hawaii and Africa, will also be a speaker.

Wednesday evening, Rev. W. Q. Mear of Chile, South America, will share with the Christians forces to remedy the gathering. His fame as a speaker is already well established.

Thursday evening Dr. Ladislav Biro, president of the Hungarian Baptist convention, who is also a pastor, is to speak.

The conference will be closed on Friday evening with the address of Rev. John Hay of the British Baptist mission fields of occupied China.

It is doubtful that such an array of speakers of world-wide experiences and visions has ever been brought together for a conference in this part of the state. Now we're happy to invite and urge everyone to hear them.

OIL IN FLORIDA

It won't be long before the state will be called upon to pay that $50,000 reward to the first party who finds oil in commercial quantities. That's the opinion of Lloyd Brown, oil drilling expert with the Gulf Petroleum company, who is now stationed at Leesburg.

Mr. Brown ought to know, for he has been locating oil land for the past 35 years in the many sections of the United States and in Denmark and Cuba. That oil will be found in Florida is a foregone conclusion with Lloyd Brown. His only concern is how long it will take to develop it, and what the state will do.

He said that oil companies have invested more than $2,000,000 in instruments to locate magnetic forces and to photograph sound waves in a driven well. He has advanced so far, he asserted, that it is no longer a dreaded financial hazard to drive a well where oil may be found.

Whether or not Brown is right, it is evident that many others concur with his belief, for oil companies have leased millions of acres of land in Florida for speculative purposes and lately the water rights for oil property have been leased by the government.—Orlando Sentinel.

WITH OR WITHOUT

It is reported that a California horticulturist has succeeded in creating an odorless onion. We view this information with uncertainty, feeling, even when told the onion is descended from a lily bulb, member of the same botanical family.

There are potential repercussions of far-reaching import in this announcement of a scentless vegetable. Onions are a completely satisfying entity, boiled, fried, baked or broiled. In the American way of life, they have built up a close and affectionate relationship with hamburger, sometimes called "chopped sirloin." "With or without" is an indigenous question. We hope gastronomic folklore around the needs of our people will not disappear. In Hamburg with it is a peculiar happy description of a satisfying food. If the onion loses its savor, will it still be an onion? Do you like yours with or without?—Christian Science Monitor.

THE NEWSPAPER AND RADIO

Prof. John A. Garber, instructor in advertising in the University of Pittsburgh's research bureau, who recently completed a study of the use of newspaper advertising and radio broadcasts by department stores in cities ranking from least 50,000 population to more than a million, reports that while the average store covered by this search spends 3.45 per cent of its income on newspaper advertising it spends only .05 per cent of one per cent in advertising over the radio. Professor Garber's search covered 13 states—eastern, western coastal, and central. His statement concludes with this sentence: "Radio, as is very clearly shown, still plays a relatively unimportant part in department store publicity activities."

The reason is not hard to find. The newspaper advertisement tells the story in pictures, words, and figures. It is there for confirmation of first impression. The radio broadcast is merely in words, and the listener may or may not catch the price figure, and certainly gets no picture fixation. People read newspapers because they like to do so. They turn on the radio when they have time and inclination to listen and may happen to catch the advertising broadcast or may not.—Bradenton Herald.

A Memphis bank has introduced left-handed check books to its southpaw patrons. The stub is on the right side of the check, so the worried check-writer won't have to cross hands in order to hold stubs out of the way while writing.

Maybe some enterprising newspaper publisher will try the left-handed newspaper to increase its circulation among the southpaws. We suppose in that case the front and back pages will be reversed and the pages will be numbered from back to front. In this world of startling innovations with the dawn of every new day, nothing will surprise us any more.—Titusville Star-Advocate.

ABOLISHING MILLIONAIRES

With the enormous cost of the war being down more and more on the little fellow, the time may well come when the public will wish for more millionaires upon whom higher income taxes could be levied to run the government. But if the profit motive is eliminated, and the millionaires destroyed, there will be no one left to pay the bill but the rank and file.

"It has become a real distinction to be a millionaire in these years," says the Miami Herald, "and this decline in million-dollar incomes deserves some study. Perhaps there ought to be a new agency set up by the federal government to see what can be done for the relief of and increase in millionaires."

"Last year only 42 admitted the million-dollar revenue and paid $16,073,700 in federal income taxes, which is a tiny good sum to come from so few persons. It must sadden them, however, to note all these riches being dumped into the lap of spendthrift Uncle Sam."

"This number was eight less than the preceding year, indicating that depression is still hurting the millionaire crop. Compare that 42 with 1929 when there were 513, who paid $141,000,000 in taxes."

"It would benefit the government to boost and not curtail the million-dollar business for in time those millionaires, mainly working in Washington, might earn enough to balance the budget and relieve the tax-payer. What this country needs are more millionaires who admit the crime, and turn over their disgraceful wages to the government."

"Perhaps, what with war and defenses, there will be more this year, millions made out of government expenditures, and in reciprocity turned back to the government. That's fair enough."—Sanford Herald.

maintaining painful injuries, and decided that there must be some better means of teaching them the fine art of tackling and blocking. Instead of fighting against a rigid blocking machine, he reasoned that they should have some sort of a device that would give them the same action and reflex that they should have in a real game with another human body.

Trying one method after another and studying the problem seriously, he finally found his answer in the automobile spring. Constructing his own tackling dummy, he attached them to rigid and tire-type automobile springs which were in turn fastened securely to heavy wooden blocks supported by heavy framework. With a wealth of push and shove, but with sufficient give to practically duplicate the action that takes place when two determined hunkies meet on the football field.

As a result the players dashed in to block found that the device provided all that could be resisted for the standpoint of resistance and at the same time possessed enough give to absorb the blow from the player, simply giving way under the force of the impact. It practically eliminated the danger of injury and enabled the boys to go through their training period with less fatigue.

Not satisfied to simply watch operations, Emmet Peter, Jr., editor of "Lake Region," figured he could get a better idea of the performance of the machine by tackling it himself. With a snarl and a growl, he let himself go at one of the dummies, and he describes his experience as follows:

"The Martin Machine is really a marvel of training efficiency. Of course to one who hasn't tackled anything stronger than an occasional Martin for more years than we would care to mention, the machine provided a rather rough workout. But it was easy to visualize how effective the Martin machine is in training young players in the art of blocking and tackling."

The Martin Machine sells for only $20 and reportedly does the same work as equipment now in general use costing as much as $250. The boys who have purchased the machines promise them far superior to anything else on the market and while to date Martin has made no plans for manufacturing and marketing the device, making them more as an accumulation of orders, anything else, if the demand for them continues to grow it will probably mean a new industry for Florida and Lake county.

When one stops to consider the number of football teams in training throughout the country, represented by high schools and colleges, to say nothing of grade schools and other organizations, it appears that there is indeed a worthwhile market, and, being seasonal, the manufacturing can be done in the summer delivery in the fall.

Not long ago, at the invitation of an enterprising dealer, I attended a showing of the 1942 models of a popular make of motor car. Mounted on a self-limed turntable, the newest and latest in the automobile field awaited my inspection.

The models were beautiful. This appeal from every standpoint was so effectively presented that you just couldn't help but want one. Eager salesmen explained each new feature enthusiastically. Several persons placed orders. No one bothered to look under the hood or pry into the mechanism. The car carried the name of a reputable manufacturer and because of that name and the reputation it carried the purchaser KNEW that the motor features were as represented and that the car would perform perfectly.

Suppose that while every visible part of the body, upholstery, trim, paint job—were of finest quality, but everything invisible was cheap and of lower quality, and when the purchaser tried to drive it the motor would knock, the transmission would chatter and the car as a whole was concerned his bright new, beautiful car turned out to be a total loss.

Do you think that after such an experience a customer would go back to that dealer and buy an automobile? Of course not. What would you? That would send a disgruntled customer recommended the product to his friends. What would he say? He would say that he had been deceived. He would say that he had been misled. He would say that he had been deceived. He would say that he had been misled.

This month Florida put her new models on the market. Fruit stands in every store in the state are displaying beautifully packed boxes of what to all appearances was the "choicest orange and grapefruit." They look so bright and shiny, their color was perfect and they looked so GOOD that the consumer just couldn't resist them. The price was high, but she was convinced the health value of Florida oranges and grapefruit was worth the thought of giving delicious grapefruit for breakfast. She took it for granted that the fruit would be good to eat. Why should it be? For years Florida has been advertising her free-ripe, juicy, delicious fruit and the consumer is assured that the state it set out to it that no fruit left Florida until it was RIFE. They had a special commission appointed by the governor to insure that every box was carefully inspected. All fruit was checked for sugar and juice content—and certainly any that should have been rejected. FLORIDA would have to be good. But what does the trusting housewife find? When she sits down to prepare her beautiful fruit for breakfast she finds that inside of that appealing outer, artificially colored skin, is nothing but a mess of half dry, bitter meat and about a teaspoon full of equally-colored juice. She realizes that she is a sucker and a snarl. What she thinks of Florida can't be printed. It will be a long day before she lets herself in for another real deal like that FLORIDA! Don't say FLORIDA to her, brother!

Each year we permit the selfishness and greed of a few ruthless speculators to ruin the market, cast a reflection on the whole citrus industry, and worse still, the integrity and honesty of the state itself. We have laws on the books that say we have inspectors to check the fruit. And still we continue to ship worthless, lousy green fruit that even a hog would not eat—and think it's SMART.

I will contend that no more profitable way could be found to spend the advertising fund of the Florida Citrus Commission than to carry a full page in every paper published where such fruit is shipped, warning people NOT to buy Florida fruit regardless of how attractive it may appear, because it is green, and bitter, and not fit to eat.

If regulation and inspection and law can't control this evil, let's at least be honest and make some effort to protect the good name of Florida. Such advertising would be so startling and so impressive it would make millions of friends for the state and for Florida fruit. A few selfish, greedy speculators wouldn't like such a program. But everybody else would, and we wouldn't have to do it more than one or two seasons to insure the shipment of only GOOD fruit.

On the other hand—what the heck? We'll be shipping 100% fruit in all probability later in the season!

FULLER'S FULMINATIONS

Nothing is more important to the people of Florida than good health. They have good incomes, good homes, good food, good clothes, good automobiles, good schools, good money, good fun, good everything, but without good health, all these other blessings won't produce happiness, peace, aim, and desideration of all persons.

Most Floridians have most of these other blessings. Those who do not now have them are fast acquiring them. But I am sorry to have to say that the health of the people of Florida is bad. There is not a bad and yours may not be bad. But in general, the health of the people of Florida is bad. There is not a bad and yours may not be bad. But in general, the health of the people of Florida is bad.

I know that Florida is considered to be a very healthful state. And it is. But still health conditions are bad. They may sound a little "sweezy," but it is true. Some may consider it bad all right, but Florida is not good. The only way I know to improve health conditions in our state. But the health condition of our people is to make known the good and worst about it, to the end that the people will get acquainted with the improvement of health conditions in Florida results in some temporary bad advertising for our state. We will just have to suffer it as a penalty for improvement and progress.

Anyway, this is prepared purely for home consumption. It is not to be read outside Florida. It is not to be read outside Florida. It is not to be read outside Florida. It is not to be read outside Florida. It is not to be read outside Florida.

The records of the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the Florida State Board of Health reveal some alarming and disturbing facts about health conditions in our state. For instance, a baby born in Florida doesn't have much of a good chance of living to be one year.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By Russell Kay

You would think that a fellow who was instructor in mathematics, coach of a high school football team, and president of a Kiwanis club would be so busy that he wouldn't have any spare time," but the Eustis Lake Region tells an interesting story of a chap named Memory Martin who does all that and indulges in a little investigating on the side.

Keenly interested in developing a crack football team for the Eustis team, and president of a Kiwanis club, Martin wasn't a bit bothered by the equipment and old methods employed in teaching the boys how to block, so he set his mathematical mind to work on the problem. Substituting "ideas" in place of "figures" he worked it out. He had no previous experience in football, but he was able to finally develop what he terms the Martin Blocking Machine.

It has proved so practical and effective that other football coaches, after seeing it work, have ordered one or more for their use. As a result the sowl machine is now being employed in the training of high school teams in Winter Haven, Tampa, St. Petersburg, Winter Park, Lakeland, and other places and it begins to look as though the product of Martin's spare time is going to require a full time from a manufacturer and sales standpoint.

The cost of equipment in stand and use for training football teams is a big thing, and Martin was decidedly rugged in his attitude. He was not satisfied to provide the natural law that takes place when human bodies come in contact. "They were no spring or give and no experience went a player could get the same effect by heaving his body against a brick wall," Martin watched his boys beat themselves into a pulp, often set

GIVE YOUR CAR HIGH ANTI-KNOCK IN BOTH SPEED RANGES

Don't you find that you drive your car mainly in the two speed ranges symbolized by these boats? You use the low speed range in traffic and the high speed range on the open road. Therefore for knockless driving, you need a gasoline that gives high anti-knock in both these speed ranges—not in just one.

Sinclair H-C Gasoline gives you this Double-Range Anti-Knock. The reason is that H-C goes through two special processes in the course of refining. Ask your nearby Sinclair Dealer for a tankful of Sinclair H-C Gasoline today. It gives you Double-Range Anti-Knock, yet sells at the price of regular grade.

Pahokee Baptists Plan New Building Immediate Future

Architectural Plans Are Being Made Up; Hope To Start Work Soon

For the first time in the history of the First Baptist church of Pahokee, a school of missions will be conducted beginning Sunday night, with the preaching of Rev. Milner Brittain, son of Dr. C. M. Brittain, retired executive secretary of Florida Baptists. Mr. Brittain is an accomplished musician, and has added to his repertoire a Chinese program of interest.

Study classes for primary ages through the adult age will be conducted nightly, beginning Monday, 7:15, by a faculty of the church under the auspices of the W.M.U. Miss Elizabeth Caraway, president. The members of the staff are Mrs. G. Lovett, primary; Mrs. H. Unwin, juniors; Mrs. I. York, intermediates; Mrs. H. Speer, adults; and Rev. E. A. Moberg, young people. Following each class session, beginning at eight o'clock and closing at nine, a missionary will speak. The missions are Rev. M. Brittain, Sunday and Monday; Rev. W. Hay, England, Tuesday; Rev. M. R. Chastain, Wednesday; Rev. M. R. Chastain, Thursday; and Rev. L. B. Bero, Hungary, Rumania, and Bessarabia, Friday. A most cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend these activities.

At the morning hour of eleven the Lord's Supper will be commemorated with a special musical program arranged by Mrs. F. Wright, with Mr. R. Cowart directing the choir. The pastor will preach on "Judgment, Past, Present, and Future."

The Sunday School objective of two hundred has been achieved, as has the one hundred mark of the Training Union, thanks to the untiring efforts of the leaders, Prof. W. H. Kendrick superintendent, and Bill Unwin, director. Consistency in now sought with higher goals in mind. A contest between the Phila thea class, Mrs. H. Speer, teacher, and the Co-ed class, Rev. Moberg, teacher, will begin Sunday to last for four weeks, with attendance the objective.

Architectural plans for the new church building are being made

CCC Youths May Visit Pacific Coast

For the first time in approximately one year, Palm Beach county youths are to have the chance to enroll in the CCC and see service in the camps of the Pacific coast.

Announcement to this effect was made today by Mr. G. A. Chalker, chairman, District No. 19 welfare board, who explained that young men who would be available for western service should advise the nearest welfare office at once so that they may be reached when the special enrollment is authorized.

Only the usual requirements will be considered in determining eligibility for western service. Mr. Chalker stated. Previous service on the Pacific coast will not render an applicant ineligible for re-enrollment, provided three months have elapsed since the date of his last honorable discharge and the total of his previous service is not in excess of 18 months. Enrollment will be for six months.

County Budget Okehed By Board

The county budget for 1941-42 was officially adopted and the general fund set at $3.8 million, a record for the county commission Monday. The assessment roll amounted to $128,132,212 as compared to $24,046,346 for last year.

Budget for the year was set at $97,157.50, an increase of $61,708 over last year's figure of $35,449.50.

At the same session the board accepted millage levies from the following special taxing districts: Port of Palm Beach, 4.38; South Lake Worth Inlet District, 5; Jupiter Inlet, 2.78; Inland Navigation District, 1. The general school levy was set at 3 mills.

Major increases over last year's budget were for county defense commission, $10,000; welfare, $5,000; hospitalization, $5,000; and tuberculosis aid, $4,500; county health unit, $9,000; expansion of court house, $30,250; county labor wages increase, $6,000; maintenance of equipment, $5,000; isolation ward at county farm, $10,000.

up, and it is hoped building operations will begin shortly. The membership has far outgrown the present building accommodations; the need is urgent. Commencement will be announced within ten days.

Pahokee Chapter Is Outstanding At Kansas City Meet

American Farmer Degree Is Won By Former Pahokee High Boy

Claude Jones, Pahokee high school student and president of the state organization of Future Farmers of America, and John Harding, who has returned from Kansas City where they attended the annual convention of FFA clubs.

The boys brought back with them a coveted prize in the form of three of the two species together. Canvases and ruddy ducks have been restored to the list as species by the 10-and-20 bag and possession limits.

The season on jacksnipe (Wilson's snipe) has been closed this year. This year permit taking of wood ducks, in Florida both federal and state laws continue to protect the wood duck or summer duck.

Kennedy pointed out that the prohibition against using repeating or automatic shotguns of more than three-shell capacity is now a state law as well as a federal regulation.

The duck hunter's day begins at sunrise and ends at 4 p.m. In addition to a state hunting license, the duck hunter must have a federal migratory bird hunting stamp validated by his signature. These stamps, commonly called duck stamps, may be obtained at post offices for one dollar.

The dove season, also controlled by federal regulation, will not open until December 1 of this year.

Don McLeod of Apalachicola has penned the following about the wild duck. We like it and thought you might.

To A Wild Duck: You hurtle down the blustering wind with many a change of pace; I am at where I think you are, and blazer through empty space. My silly wooden duck decoys you just with proud disdain, then seem to show your nearness, you circle back again. This time I calmly plot.

Duck Season To Open November 2

TALLAHASSEE, Oct. 30. — Thousands of duck hunters in Florida will greet the dawn of November 2 in blinds as the 1941 migratory waterfowl season opens for a 90-day period.

"Duck hunting regulations this year are about the same as those last year as announced by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service," L. N. Kennedy, executive secretary of the State Commission of Game and Fresh Water Fish, said today. "Only minor changes have been made, with daily bag limits continuing at 10 on ducks, and possession limited to two days' bag."

Redheads and buffheads are exceptions to the general bag limit with a limit of three a day, or three of these two species together.

your course and draw my head back again, when you shall reach the spot marked "X" I plan to shoot you dead. But suddenly you put on brakes and slow the atmosphere, then wheel away across the marsh, and go, I know not where. I use my ammunition up and lay my weapon by; I stretch my limbs and light my pipe, and look up in the sky, to find you circling there again, you daring little imp! And now you pass me by so close you loom up like a blimp. Oh well, we've played this game before, and will some other time; I'm full of admiration for your impudence. The only shots that I regret are those that find their mark and fling you crumpled at my feet to lie there, cold and stark.

Margery Lair Circle Meets

A special service in observance of the week of prayer was given by Mrs. Duncan Padgett at the wedding of the Margery Lair circle of WBSOS, of the Pahokee Methodist church, at the home of Mrs. B. S. Waring Monday afternoon. Devotions were led by Mrs. O. D. Carpenter. Mrs. T. M. Dochman presided at the business meeting. Mrs. E. Meredith assisted Mrs. Waring as co-hostess.

Members present were Mrs. C. A. Shiver, Mrs. H. J. Anderson, Mrs. Duncan Padgett, Mrs. Dan Carpenter, Mrs. O. B. McClure, Mrs. J. A. Duhany, Mrs. Charles Moran, Mrs. Jones Phillips, Mrs. J. F. Colson, Mrs. Meredith, and Mrs. Waring. Visitors were Mrs. C. Gordon and Mrs. Ayer.

Blue Devils Tie Vero Beach Squad

Coach Holman's crippled Blue Devils were kept busy keeping the Vero Beach eleven from crossing the goal line and therefore failed to make a score themselves on the Indians' home reservation last Friday night. The local team lacked the backfield power of Stone and Collins, regular players who were cut with injuries, and the remodeled backfield of Weeks, Bleech, Stokes and Unwin could get rolling together.

The Vero Beach squad fought hard all the way, determined to keep the score low, to win from the weak Blue Devil crew. A scoreless tie was the result of the clash between these two Indian River conference teams.

The stretch of road between Pahokee and Belle Glade is a disgrace to the highway department. Something should be done about it.

EXPERIENCE SPEAKS AGAIN

Dear Friends:

Coot season opens at sun-up, Sunday, November 2, and not one minute before. So, if you are planning to take part in this sport take my advice and get your hunting license, duck stamp, and then wait for the arrival of Old Sol to show himself in the east, for it is much more pleasant to explain to one of your fellow sportsmen the reason for that miss than to explain to the judge why you should be excused for violating the law as laid down by the court.

Wishing you all the best of luck, I am

Yours very truly,
